General

1. What is an Assistive Technology device?

Assistive Technology devices increase, maintain, or improve the functional capabilities of persons with disabilities.

2. Who can apply for Assistive Technology Fund (ATF)?

Applicants will require the assistance of an Application Admin (e.g. Social Worker) and an Assessor (e.g. Therapist) from Touchpoints to assess and complete the application. Touchpoints refer to Public Hospitals and Social Service Agencies. The Touchpoint's Application Admin/Assessor will submit this application on behalf of the applicant.

To be eligible, the applicant must meet all the following criteria:

- Singapore Citizen or Permanent Resident
- Have a permanent disability based on any one of the following:
 - Physical Disability: Requires some assistance with at least 1 of the 6 Activities of Daily Living due to physical impairment
 - Moderate visual impairment or worse in the better eye
 - Moderate hearing loss or worse in the better ear
 - Intellectual disability
 - Autism

Proof of disability must be provided using the Disability Verification Form \(DVF\) completed by a relevant registered Healthcare Professional.

- Undergone qualified assessor's assessment to determine the need and type of devices(s)
- Monthly Per Capita Household Income of $2,600 and below
- Annual Value (AV) of residence reflected on NRIC of $21,000 and below for households with no income

3. Are persons with temporary disabilities eligible for ATF?

No. The intent of ATF is to support persons with permanent disabilities.

4. How much subsidy is a successful applicant eligible for?

Successful applicants are granted a means-tested subsidy of up to 90% of the cost of the device, subject to a cap of $40,000 in his/her lifetime.

Per Capita Monthly Household Income	ATF Subsidy Rate
	SC	PR
$0 to $900	90%	65%
$901 to $1,500		50%
$1,501 to $2,600	75%	30%
$2,601 and above	0%	0%

Annual Value (AV) of residence reflected on NRIC of $21,000 and below for households with no income.

For example, if the device costs $3,000, and you qualify for a means-tested subsidy of 90%, you would receive a subsidy of $2,700. The outstanding balance of $300 would be borne by you.

5. How can applicants calculate their household monthly income per person?

Household monthly income per person will be determined via the Household Means Eligibility System (HOMES). Applicants are advised to approach the Touchpoints (i.e. Public Hospitals and Social Service Agencies) for assistance with means testing.

$$\frac{\text{Total gross household income}}{\text{Total number of people in the household}} \leq $2,600 \text{ per person}$$

Annual Value (AV) of residence reflected on NRIC of $21,000 and below for households with no income.

6. Does ATF accept CHAS Blue and Orange card as a basis to determine the subsidy a person with disability is eligible for?

ATF's household monthly income per person eligibility is determined from the HOMES mean-tests results. ATF does not accept CHAS card(s) as a proxy for means test eligibility.

7. What if the applicant cannot afford the remaining cost of the device after ATF subsidy?

Successful ATF applicants who require further subsidy can be considered for Special Assistance Fund (SAF) by the National Council of Social Service (NCSS). The NCSS SAF is a community fund providing supplementary funding to persons with disabilities from low-income families.

SAF assessment is done during applicant's ATF application assessment, using the same process.

8. How do I apply for ATF?

Please approach a Therapist or a Social Worker from Touchpoints (Public Hospitals and Social Service Agencies) to assess and assist you to submit an ATF application.
