

COPING WITH CAREGIVER BURNOUT

The caregiving journey may be lonely and stressful, which can lead to burnout.

Symptoms of caregiver burnout

Loss of interest in activities and withdrawal from loved ones

Feeling sad, hopeless and irritable

Changes in appetite, weight, or sleep patterns

Feeling emotionally and physically exhausted and falling ill more often

Wanting to hurt oneself or the person being cared for

WHAT TO DO?

Accept your feelings and understand your limits.
You can take the following steps to overcome burnout.

Be part of a community and join caregiver support groups.

Talk about your feelings with someone you trust. See a professional if needed.

Take care of yourself and set realistic goals. Use caregiver support services.

Scan for more information and resources

An initiative by

We See You Care

SG ENABLE
Inclusive society. Enabled lives.